RE: Proceeding 16-106 - Protecting the Privacy of Customers of Broadband and Other
Telecommunications Services

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

Eight years ago, candidate Obama said, "we need a president who sees government not as a tool to enrich friends and high-priced lobbyists, but as the defender of fairness and opportunity for every American." _ and it is just ONE of the many things he does NOT believe himself, apparently because he seems to be just GIVING everything America has to every Tom, Dick, and Harry that comes along and gets here ILLEGALLY.

Four hundred and twenty Google White House meetings later, and it's become crystal clear that President Obama's views are very different.

The FCC's new "privacy" _ regulations are a blatant sop to Google, Obama's biggest corporate supporter. How can you say consumers "shouldn't have to sign away their right to privacy" _ to be on the Internet yet give a free pass to the worst privacy violator in history?

Google knows more about how I live my life than any company in history. To be online means Google knows my personal habits; where I go; what I watch on the Internet; even what I say to my family and friends. And they regularly use this private data about me for their own profit.

Google's own chairman says it best:

"We know where you are. We know where you've been. We can more or less know what you're thinking about."_

So-called "privacy"_ regulations that give free rein to Obama ally and serial privacy violator Google shows that the only change this President has championed after eight years is blatant corporate cronyism.

How MANY chances are YOU going to just GIVE our LIAR-in-CHIEF before you put a hold on ALL of his UNCONSTITUTIONAL actions against the will of the people of America? ? ? ? ?

We the people of America is ANGREE about the LACK of accountability the government actions that seems to be the RULE of the government these days.

Nobody seems to want to take responsibility for their actions even when it is a good thing, because it still could turn out to be VERY BAD.

Sincerely,
Donald McCormick
